Year: 2018
Key Staff: Doug Goldberg, Feihang Du, Jing Pei

SPS prepared a comparative analysis of airport development strategies to meet the long-term needs of the hubbing airlines serving Iceland. This analysis involves preparing an updated airport facility space program based on aviation demand forecast and assessing cap-ex associated with alternative airport system development strategies. The findings of this study provided a roadmap and strategy for the future development of KEF, the current international airport in Keflavik, and RKV, the current domestic airport in Reykjavik.
